

Please note:

Because of the increasingly competitive pricing of software for the Commodore 64 we are no longer able to provide free assistance in the event that you encounter difficulties while using Jenny 2. Jenny 2 has now been on the market for several years and has been updated periodically to assure satisfactory performance. Problems which have surfaced have been resolved already. Should you encounter a problem with this program we advise that you read all of the instructions again to make certain that you are following them properly. If this doesn't help, you may want to have the performance of your Commodore equipment tested -- especially the disk drive alignment. If you still are having problems send some proof of purchase along with $10 and a detailed description of your problem to the address below. If we have a solution and/or an updated version of Jenny 2 we will send it to you. Make sure to send us your address! If we don't have a recommendation or an updated version we will refund your $10. Besides Jenny 2, we have a few other products which you may be interested in:

Important Notice

We strongly recommend that you copy your data disks after each session to protect your work from potentially being lost through a disk error or a program error. We also recommend saving some of your older copies just in case you find out that your new copies have become 'corrupted'. This way, you can go back to an uncorrupted version without having to start entirely over. Disk errors seldom occur with Jenny 2 -- especially if your equipment is performing properly. Still, however, it pays to plan ahead because of the substantial amount of time needed to enter family records.

The procedure for copying disks using a single disk drive is as follows:

1. Turn off everything
2. Unplug printer and/or printer interface.
(The copy program will not work if a printer is connected).
3. Insert Jenny 2 disk
4. Turn on equipment
5. Put a write protect tab on your data disk!
6. Load "Disk Copier", 8
7. Make sure your data disk has a write protect on it!
8. After disk copier program has loaded type the word 'RUN' then press 'RETURN'.
9. The following prompt should now appear on screen: 'Insert Source Disk'. If this prompt doesn't appear then start over.
10. Insert the disk you want to copy.
11. Press the return key. The light will blink while disk is copying. The screen will go blank temporarily.
12. Next you should get a message 'insert output disk'.
13. Insert a blank disk or a disk which you no longer need.
14. Press the return key. Screen goes blank and light blinks while copying.
15. Prompt will return again requesting source disk again. Repeat steps 10 through 15 until message appears: 'copy done'.
16. Remove output disk and put a label on it indicating what it is.
17. If you need to copy another disk simply press the 'Return' key again. The message will appear 'insert source disk'. You can now repeat steps 9 through 16 to copy another disk.
18. Once you have finished copying disks turn everything off then connect your printer again.
19. You can now remove the protection tab from your original data disk if you desire to add records to it.

By the way, the Disk Copier program might not work unless you own a Commodore 1541 disk drive or a real close compatible.
